Natural England

SIR, - I just wanted to thank your good newspaper and Antony Pasmore for exposing the mismanagement of the New Forest by Natural England in recent years.

As they move through to ethnically cleanse small streams, spending huge sums, destroying archaeology, ruining wildlife niches and leaving a pollution and clear-up nightmare for future generations (while pretending it is doing something for nature) it is surely one of the great modern scandals of Hampshire.

How much has now been frittered?

Tom Langton
